Trillium Links award-winning 18-hole course was designed by PGA Champions Tour Player Morris Hatalsky who used the topography of the Blue Ridge mountains to guide him in designing a course that offers golfers grandeur and sophisticated play.

The strategically designed course infuses

the game of golf with challenge and excitement. Members often remark that no one round is like any other you'll ever play. Perhaps this comment is due to Hatalsky's layout which offers golfers a variety of ways to play each hole, depending on the tee box placement, the width and length of the fairways and the slope and design of the course. This careful attention to the quality of the game provides golfers of all skill levels a variety of shotmaking values and a challenging and enjoyable round of mountain golf.
